

DSA Society Case Competition

Administrative Matters

Table of Content

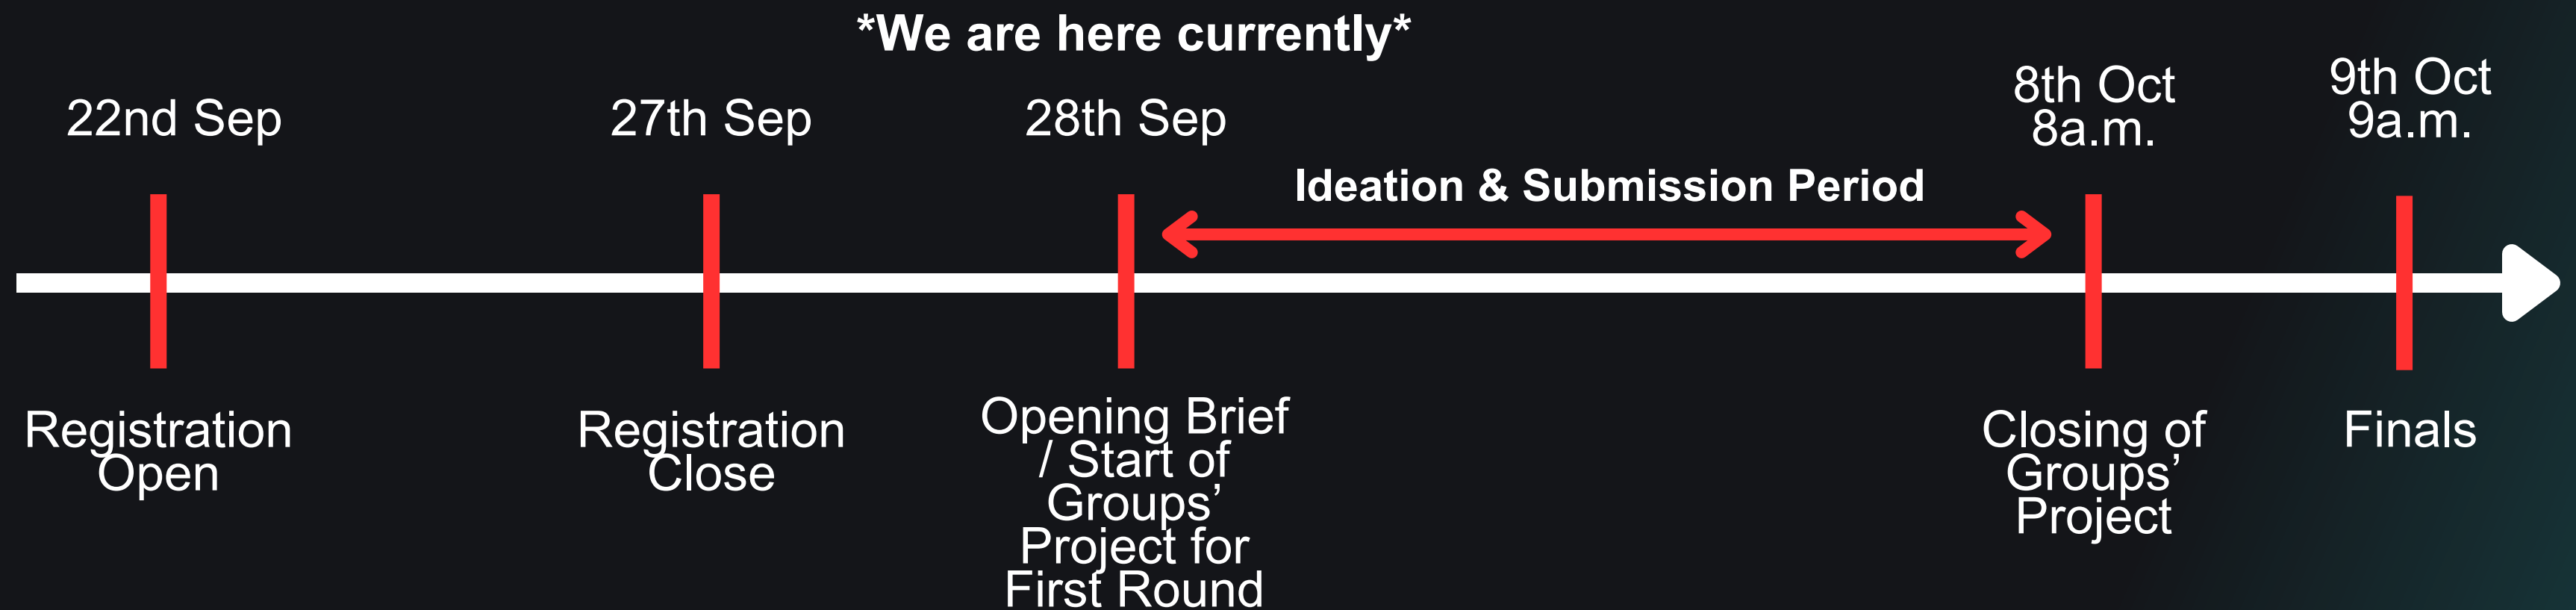

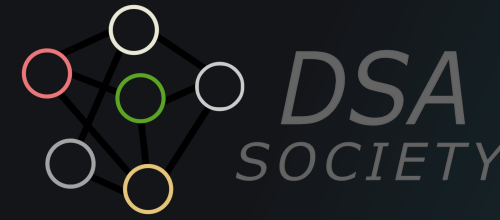

Case Competition Timeline

Submission Requirements

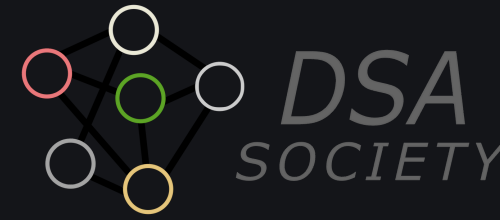

Submission Link

Finals Details

Case Competition Timeline

First Round Submission Criterion

- More Details on the Project Specifics can be found in the Project Details Deck.

You are required to submit:

- Your Coding Script (Any Programming Language is accepted)
- A written proposal detailing the introduction, motivations, and why you adopted your final model as such. References and past works are to be stated as well. The written proposal is to be between 2-3 pages long and submitted in pdf form.

Speed of the submission is also a criterion in which the first round will be judged on, so do keep that in mind when planning for your project.

First Round Submission Link

- Once done with your project, submit the google form here:

Link to Submission Google Form

The form requires submission of:

- Your Team Name (Do make sure that your team name is in your written proposal as well)
- The link to your Github Repository in which the project was done on
- Proposal

The Google Form closes by 8 Oct 8a.m.

Finals

If your team's project is well-received by our judges, then you or one member of your team will be contacted by 8th October 2025 (On a rolling basis dependent on your submission date).

Finals details:

Time: 9a.m. to 3p.m. (to be further confirmed)

Date: 9th October 2025

Attire: Business Formal

Location: NAKA / SOE (to be further confirmed)

Finals

All teams who made it to the Finals are to prepare for:

- A 15-minute Presentation detailing your model, execution and assumptions.
- A 10-minute QnA session from our Judges.

Finals Judges

Prof Daniel Preeve

Head of SMU Data Science and Analytics Curriculum

Ms Cathy Tan

Founder of Genesis1v1

Finals

All Finalists will be added to a Telegram Group should there be a sudden change to the Finals.

More information (schedule, order in which teams will present) will be released to the finalists seperately.

Thank you!

And All the Best for your Project!